It's Even More Important to Take Action, Be Safe, and Be Informed

Last month we encouraged residents, workers, and business owners to learn what to do before, during and after a disaster, including completing emergency contact cards, finding out what you should have in your emergency kit, and completing an emergency plan. With the Hurricane Season in full swing and winter just around the corner, it is even more important to put your emergency plan in place. This also includes being able to sustain yourself, family, or business during and immediately after a disaster. Having a back-up generator, sump pumps, and a reasonable supply of drinking water and food before severe weather strikes may lessen the direct impact on your family or business, while at the same time giving the city's first responders the opportunity to focus on serious emergencies and maintaining critical city services.
